PROF. THOMAS F. ADKIN.

President of the Institute of Physicians and Surgeons.

In all parts of the country men and women, doctors and surgeons, ciergymen and educators are wondering at the remarkable cures made by Professor Thomas F. Adkin, discoverer of the Adkin Vitaopathic treatment.

Prof. Adkin heals not by drugs, nor by Christian Science, nor by Osteopathy, nor by Hypnotism, nor by Divine Healing, but I war force of nature in combination with certain vital magnetic remedies which contain the very elements of file and health.

A reporter recently talked with Prof. Adkin and was asked to invite all readers of this paper who are sick or who are wordied by the ills of those dear to them, to write to him for assistance. "Some people have declared," said Prof. Adkin, "that my powers are of God, they call me a Divine health, but so. I cure because I understand nature, to build up the system and restore health. But at the same time I believe that the Creator would not have given me the opportunity or the ability to develophem, if He had not intended that I should use them for the good of humanity.

I therefore of a literable that I should use them for the good of humanity.

I therefore of a literable that I should use them for the good of humanity.

"that my powers are of God, they call me a Divine heater, a man of mysterious powers. This is not so. I cure because I use the subtle force of rancing Elk. Unlike most indian braves, that the Creator would not have given me that the Greator would not have given me the opportunity or the ability to develop them, if He had not intended that I should use them for the good of humanity. I therefore, feel that it is my duty to give a whole of the sufficient confidence if they are troubled with any kind of disease, and I will thoroughly diseases their cases and prescribe with any kind of disease, and I will thoroughly diseases their cases and prescribe with any kind of disease, and I will thoroughly diseases their cases and prescribe with the property of the complete cure should be effected. those who have been treated in person. Prof. Adkin asserts that he can cure any one at any distance as well as though he stood before them.

Not long ago John Adams of Biackesbury, Ia., who had been lame for twenty years, was permanently cured by Professor Adkin without an operation of any kind. About the mane time the city of Roches er. N. Y., was startled by the cure of one of its oldest residents, Mr. P. A. Wright, who had been partly blind for a long period. John E. Neff of Millersburg, Pa., who had suffered for years from a cataract over his left eye, was speedily restored to perfect sight, without an operation. From Logansport, Ind., comes the news of the recovery of Mrs. Mary Elcher, who had been practically deaf for a year, while in Warren, Pa., Mr. G. W. Savage, a noted obnotographer and artist, who was not only partially blind and deaf, but at death's door from a complication of disease, was restored to perfect health and strength by Professor Adkin.

Vitaopathy cures not one disease alone, but it cures all diseases when used in combination with the proper remedies. If you are sick, no matter what your disease nor who says you cannot be cured, write to Professor Ackin to-day; tell him the leading symptoms of your complaint, how long you have been suffering, and he will gione disease from which you are suffering, and prescribe the treatment that will positively cure you. This costs you absolutely nothing. Professor Adkin will also send you a copy of his marvelous new book entitled, "How to Be Cured and How to Cure Others." This book tells you exactly how Professor Adkin will cure you. It fully and committely describes the nature of his wonderful treatment. It also explains to you how you yourself may possess this great healing power and cure the sick around you.

Professor Adkin does not ask one cent for his services in this connection. They will be given to you absolutely ree. He has made a wonderful discovery, and he wishes to place it in the hands of every sick person, in this country, that he may b

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Philadelphia, Nov. 1.—After twenty-six years a missing chapter in the history of the massacre of the Little Big Horn, when General George Armstrong Custer and 400 of his soldiers were annihilated by 5,000 Sloux Indians under the Chieftains Sitting Bull and Rain-in-the-Face, has been supplied by the son of a Sloux Chief, who is an Episcopal rector.

To his American brethren he is known as the Reverend Philip Daloria, of Flora, S. D. Under that name he is attending they missionary council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, now in session here. His Indian name is Tipisapa, or Black Tent, which, to the Indians, is the embodiment of all that is terrible. For twenty-seven years Mr. Daloria has labored among his people in the capacities of helper, catehist and priest.

Mr. Daloria was an intimate friend of Sitting Bull, but he could never persuade the old chieftain to change his mode of living. With Rain-in-the-Face he had better success. Only last summer that noted fighter was received into the Episcopal Church through the instrumentality of Mr. Dalori.

Daiori.

When seen at his hotel here the Indian preacher told what he had learned in his travels among the Sioux about the massacre of the Little Big Horn. His English is broken, but this is in substance the story he related: OLD WARRIOR'S CONFESSION.

New York, Nov. 1—Because his mother married a second time and because a dog bit him three weeks ago. John Myrial, a long-shoreman, 25 years old, attempted to commit suicide by taking paris green.

Myrial has been out of employment for some time. He had not spoken to his mother since her marriage to another longshoreman named Robinson. When found in his room he had a letter in his hand, which read as follows:

My Dear Mother—I have committed suicide because you married that man. You should never have married a second time. It was enough to have a dog bite me three weeks ago, and to have a policeman threaten to blow me brains out, but you capped the climar by getting married. Good-by to everybody.

Mrs. Robinson and her husband summoned the police of the Oak Street Station.

An ambulance took Myrial to the Hudson Street Hospital, and after Doctor Reh had pumped him out Myrial was locked up in the Oak Street Station.

Will Direct Packing Trust. Chicago, Nov. I.—P. A. Valentine, manager of Armour & Co., will, after election, remove to New York to direct the affairs of the packing trust. It is asserted that the concern will be in full operation the first of the year, its financial headquarters being located in New York City.

Medical authorities throughout the country, including names like those of Dr. C. F. Beard, South Framingham, Mass.; Dr. L. D. Knott, Lebanon, Ky.; Dr. M. L. Craffey, Bt. Louis, Mo.; Dr. F. E. Brown, Sanborn, Iowa, and Dr. J. C. Curryer, of St. Paul, Minn., now agree that the Whetzel system of asthma treatment affords an actual and absolute cure for the disease. The efforts of physicians heretofore, have been to ease the breathing and keep the discussed symptoms under control, leaving the discusse itself alive, but latent and asleep in the system. Under the Whetzel treatment the germ of the malady is enadleated and the patient made exempt from further stincks.

FREE TRIAL FOR ALL APPLICANTS.

Dr. Whetzel will for a time send a test course of treatment free to all applicants who will give a short description of their case and aid in the hursane work by sending the names of two other persons having asshma.

SMIPS OF TWO NATIONS RACED FOR ISLAND PRIZE.

Had American Schooner Whalen R eached Marcus First, There Would Have Been No Need for Captain Rosehill to Ask United States Government to Put Him in Control of Island Home.

WRITTEN FOR THE SUNDAY REPUBLIC.

Had the sensational and unique race between Captain Rosehill, American skipper, of Honoliul, in command of a ninety-sixton schooner, and the Japanese Government, represented by a 6,000-ton cruiser, to reach Marcus Island first resulted in a vice-sixton schooler.

WRITTEN FOR THE SUNDAY REPUBLIC.

Rosehill to remove the deposits of guano and granting him right to go on Marcus Island for and the Japanese Government bore the signature of the Imperial Japanese Consul at Honolulu, and gave him permission to go to the island for the purpose of conducting a scientific exploration for the flora and fauna of the place.

been no need for the Captain to ask the United States Government to put him in control of his island home.

But the Japanese cruiser won the race and landed a body of marines with orders to drive off the Captain and his crew.

When he arrived on the spot, beaten by twenty-four hours, he was met by a line of bayonets.

When Captain Rosehill and his little crew sailed from Honoluiu last July they did not anticipate that they would figure as the principals in an international incident.

The little schooner Julia E. Whalen was loaded with materials with which to build a house on the island.

Rosehill was fully aware that there probably were Japanese on the island. One of the transports in passing had reported their presence, but he was armed with documents enough to awe the average coolle.

One was from the State Department at Washington, giving permission to Captain vising him not to engage in any overt act while the cruiser was present in those wa-while the cruiser was present in those waters.

A postscript stated that an order on the subject of Americans on the island had been issued to the Lieutenant of marines.

This order was to prevent the Americans from remaining on the island at all except in case of distress or stekness, permission being granted the schooner to remain one week off the island.

"When I heard this," said Rosehill, "I knew the jig was up."

"I parleyed with the Lieutenant, but he was a soldier and had to obey his orders. Finally he consented to allow the two scientists to go about the island, and a few iays later he allowed me and three of the sailors to land.

antists to go about the island, and a lew lays later he allowed me and three of the salors to land.

"But we were closely watched day and night."

It must have been exasperating to the scientists—W. A. Bryan and T. Sedsewick—to see the ruthless destruction of thousands upon thousands of birds which inhabited the place.

The Japanese were systematically engaged in slaughtering the old and young alike, of all varieties, to be used in decorating women's hats in Paris.

A number of specimens entirely new to science were discovered by the scientists, but unless some measures are taken to stop the indiscriminate slaughter of the birds the feathered inhabitants will within a few years become practically extinct.

The flash were also being regularly taken in large quantities and dried for shipment. In fact, several Japanese schooners are run regularly between the island and Japan. There were between thirty and forty Japanese men and women living on the island, in addition to the marines.

The inhabitants have erected a regular settlement, and during the visit of the partynumerous photographs of the settlement were taken.

From a scientific standpoint the expedition was entirely successful, as many new and interesting varieties of the flora and fauna of the place were secured.

It was the first expedition of the kind fund of the place were secured.

It was the first expedition of the kind over sent to Marcus Island, and the Bishop Museum of Honolulu secured much valuable information. Rosehill says that he found no trace of the house that he erected when he first went to the island.

There were several large trees growing on the island there, but all of these have since over cut down by the Japanese.

"When our time was up," said Rosehill, "the Japs ordered us away."

They would not listen to rhyme or reason, but insisted that we sail, which we did, I think it is a fine, rich island.

I am going now to appeal to the State Department to put me in possession of the place. In 1839, when Japan gave notice of her intention to it showed that they considered the place as annexed.

"If they falled to take the right steps in that matter it is not my fault. We are going to make a big fight for that Island, and the matter will be taken into Congress if necessary before we will sit still and let the Japanese do us out of it."

Man May Be Imprisoned for Disobeying Court Order. REPUBLIC SPECIAL

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

New York, Nov. 1.—Supreme Court Justice Steckler has handed down a decision under which a man who falls to support his mother, when a court has ordered him to do so, may be imprisoned as long as six months, instead of going free at the end of thirty days or less, as heretofore.

A man named Kroncke was haled into court by the Commissioner of Charitte, charged with failing to support his aged and destitute mother. One of the General Sessions Judges ordered him to care for

Then he applied to Justice Steeker for a writ of habcas corpus, but the Justice did not agree with the lawyer's contention that, as the contempt was in a criminal proceeding, the prisoner was liable to only thirty days the contempt. In refusing to grant the writ the Justice says:

"I Feel Like a Two-Year-Old."

How often that is said by Men who have been cured of Nervous Dehility by the Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt. They say it every day. Men who have been weak, gloomy, irresolute, and who had no confidence in themselves at all, are now holding up their heads in gride, with the knowledge that perfect strength is restored; that they are as good as any man that walks, and better than any man of their size. You know you are weak now and wish you could say that you were as good as any man of your size. You can if you will use this grand invigorator—

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

DR. McLAUGHLIN:

Dear Sir-The Belt I first bought of you last fall did me a great deal of good.

It relieved me of Sciatica, which was the fourth or fifth attack of this disease that I experienced. First attack was August, 1861. I have not used new Belt, but have it ready for immediate use should I experience another attack of Sciatica. I have perfect faith in it. My general health at present is good and does not require treatment. Yours very truly.

Chetopa. Kas.

They come every day from everywhere. There is not a town of hamlet in the country which has not cures by Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Now, what does this mean to you, dear reader? If you are not what you ought to be, can you ask any better proof to make you try it? Is there a remedy which is as simple, as easy to use, as sure to cure and as cheap as Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt? I have not seen one. You must try it, In justice to yourself and to those who look to you for their future happiness, try it now. Act this minute. Such a matter ought not to be delayed.

It's as good for women as for men. Worn while you sleep, it causes no trouble; You feel the gentle, glowing heat from it constantly, but no sting, no burnble; You feel the gentle, glowing heat from it constantly, but no sting, no burnble is as from the constantly, but no sting, no burnble as strong man.
